At Kiyoto Sushi, we understand the importance of providing accurate and up-to-date information regarding allergens in our menu items.

If you do have an allergy or intolerance, please let a staff member know before you order, so that they can help you choose suitable dishes. Unfortunately, we cannot modify dishes for allergies or intolerances, as when a visible allergenic ingredient (such as a garnish) is removed, it doesn't necessarily mean the dish no longer contains that allergen (as it could be contained within the sauce, oil it's cooked in, or another ingredient). So, while this may not seem very flexible, it is for the safety of our guests and our teams. Whilst we aim to prevent cross contamination, unfortunately the risk of this does remain as our kitchens handle a number of different allergens. We therefore cannot guarantee that our dishes are allergen free or suitable for people with allergies. Our recipes do change from time to time so please do take time to check. If you have a question, please ask a staff member.
